

Read Well Training

Leadership, Teaching, Training, and Coaching

June 17-20, 2019
Portland, OR

Presented by Marilyn Sprick, Read Well K-2 Lead Author

This training is for leadership teams and individual teachers who wish to teach reading well and meet the needs of all learners in the Read Well K-2 curriculum.

Why You Should Attend

General Education Teachers: “Everything was appreciated—rationale, research, connections, and the emphasis on diagnostics.” • “Our questions were delightfully fielded and concerns addressed with poise, humor, and expertise. We are committed to implement with fidelity and rigor.” • “I loved the ‘why’ behind the reading components.” • “Great examples! I am totally inspired to teach well!”

Reading Specialists and Interventionists: “I appreciated the knowledge base, connections with research and real world applications. Every person was involved and learning; a continued passion for literacy was instilled in each session.”

Administrators: “Style of presentation—easy to follow and learn from. Genuine, supportive and oh so knowledgeable.” • “So much to take back and help the teachers that I work with in teaching the program with fidelity—excellent strategies for helping our struggling students.”

The $775 Registration Fee includes:

- Three and a half days of training with Read Well lead author Marilyn Sprick
- Continental breakfast and buffet lunch each day of training
- A training manual about Read Well instruction for you to use for review when teaching or in training and coaching
