VOYAGER PASSPORT INCLUDES THE SOUND LIBRARY

Help struggling readers see, hear, and experience how speech sounds are formed. Students learning to read often need added support to master oral language and extra practice to effectively articulate the speech sounds of English. Educators can provide explicit reading intervention instruction when they incorporate videos from the Sound Library for visual aid, additional practice, and accurate pronunciation of phonemes.

These short video clips allow students to see, hear, and experience how 42 different speech sounds are formed. Excellent for use in face-to-face, remote, and hybrid learning environments. Explore all the vowel and consonant videos the Sound Library has embedded in Voyager Passport reading intervention.

“My kids love Reading Rangers—they’re captivated by the graphics! Students are completely focused on their own learning. They’re mastering all of the standards that are specific to their grade level, which has been a great supplement to what I am teaching each day. There are so many built-in incentives to keep students engaged and striving forward. This is definitely a welcomed addition to our classroom reading stations.
